Blaine Larsen open ended interview:

Interviewer questions in exact order – panned hard right
(Blaine unedited answers pan hard left)

1. First and foremost thanks for hanging out with us
2. Good to see you again
3. Living in Nashville now about 4 years, you've been working on lotsa things, including building a house having a daughter and writing songs... we'll get to the other things in a moment, but first tell me what kind of songwriter you are? Do you set writing appointments... or are you more spur of the moment?
4. Does that put more pressure on you thinking by the end of the appointment you need to have something done?
5. Just like most, you write for yourself and you write songs that get pitched ... well here you go getting one of your songs cut by another artist... the first time that's happened... and what a way to start. You get a George Strait cut ... is that like the ultimate songwriter's dream?
6. Tell me the difference between having an album cut and then - it goes to the next level and becomes a single.
7. Has having a George Strait hit opened any more doors for you yet?
8. Now lets talk about YOUR current single "Chillin" – its one you wrote – filled with lots of summer fun – you said earlier you are always very busy, that being the case, where did the inspiration for this come from? How do you connect to this song?
9. I'm guessing by the line about the Caney Fork bridge... you trout fish too ... and you know some secret hot spots?

10. Lets talk about your daughter... Zoe is how old now ? How's being a dad made you a different person?
11. Recently Nashville saw some flooding and you Played the that night, was that your first time? What's playing the Opry mean to a county artist?
12. You mentioned being able to play different songs – for you, what are “those songs”?
13. Your not a stranger to big live shows, Paisley, Flatts, Cheseny... do you have one event – one story – good or bad - that happened on the road you'll never forget.
14. I've heard in your spare time you like to fly airplanes ... where did that come from – and when did you start?
15. Other than a commercial flight – most of us have no idea what that's like.
16. I've read you are traveling to Columbia with “Compassion International” this fall ... I wonder if you can fill us in on that organization?
17. Do you have links on your web site about this?
18. How do we keep up this you ? web facebook myspace... BlaineLarsen.com seems to be a logical “no brainer” place to start...
19. So we're going to get to visit with you again when the new album comes out correct? Great – thanks again for your time, and we cant wait.
